

The Loka Institute

Making research, science and technology responsive to democratically decided social and environmental concerns

www.loka.org

STS in Action Questions

To expand the Loka-sponsored dialogue about and for engagement by science and society scholars, we invite responses to a set of questions that will provide a common framework for replies. Responses can be submitted as email text or as an attachment to sts@loka.org. Please include your name and institutional affiliation on the document if you wish to be identified.

I. Engagement Activities

- a. Where do you engage?
- b. How do you engage?
- c. With what communities?
- d. With what goals?
- e. What are the results (e.g., publications, community or organizational change, curriculum development)?

II. Challenges

- a. How are your goals for engagement related to your academic career goals?
- b. How do you navigate among competing identities, which might include academic researcher, citizen, activist, family member, and consumer, among others?
- c. How do you see yourself positioned intellectually/politically within STS and/or or other fields in which you are professionally active?

Read the STS in Action Replies

Who came to the workshop?